TRADEMARK NITROGEN – FLORIDA SOUTHERN COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP

FFAA Scholarship Fund announces $2,500 FSC scholarship. Deadline to apply Oct. 15th

Tampa, Florida (August 27, 2014) – The TradeMark-Florida Southern College Scholarship was established through the FFAA Scholarship Fund to offer scholarships to qualified agriculture students at Florida Southern College. The FFAA also offers $2,000 scholarships to Florida A&M University and University of Florida students. These scholarships are all designed to promote the study of agriculture in higher education and to encourage academic excellence among students pursuing agricultural studies. In turn, it is our hope that some of these students will utilize their talents to improve Florida agriculture through research or employment in the Florida agribusiness industry.

Eligibility Requirements

- Students enrolled at the junior, senior, graduate level in agricultural studies
- Minimum GPA of 3.0 (out of 4.0)
- Apply on-line by Oct. 15th at <http://www.ffaa.org/scholarship.html>

About the Florida Fertilizer & Agrichemical Association (FFAA)

FFAA was originally formed in 1932 as the Florida Agriculture Research Institute, Inc. Its mission was to furnish information to the agricultural community on fertilizer and agrichemical use. In 1986, the name was changed to Florida Fertilizer and Agrichemical Association, Inc. Today, FFAA represents the fertilizer, limestone and agrichemical industries that operate in Florida. FFAA's main objectives are to enhance the public's perception of the Florida's fertilizer and agrichemical industry and to promote the safe, responsible use of these products.
